

RoboBlitz Coming To Steam

October 10, 2006, 1:00 pm - Chris Bokitch

Naked Sky Entertainment, an independent game studio located in Los Angeles, and Valve announce RoboBlitz™, an Unreal® Engine™ 3 game, is coming to Steam®, the leading online platform for PC games, in the coming weeks.

"Steam is an attractive platform for the release of RoboBlitz," said Tian Mu, CEO of Naked Sky Entertainment. "We're looking forward to being able to release to Steam's huge PC audience. Additionally, we have long-term plans to expand RoboBlitz with new content. Through Steam, we have a great avenue for delivering the game and updates directly to over 10 million gamers' PCs."

RoboBlitz is a humorous, physics-driven action game full of inventive gizmos, weapons, and environments. Players take on the role of Blitz, a multi-talented robot who must activate an aging Space Cannon to save his world from a band of maladjusted space pirates. Set in seven distinct environments, RoboBlitz features 19 levels of puzzle-solving and high-intensity action.

RoboBlitz is targeted for release via Steam for $14.99. The game will be available in 8 languages: Chinese, English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Korean, and Spanish. For more information, please visit www.roboblitz.com.
